EFry Health Centre - Join Our Team & Help Improve Lives for the Better

The EFry Health Centre is a collaborative, multidisciplinary Community Health Centre created to meet the whole-person health needs of marginalized women and children. Operated by the EFry Health Services Society from a new purpose-built facility in North Surrey, the EFry Health Centre team brings together doctors, nurse practitioners, nurses, mental health experts, medical exercise and dental care from the UBC School of Dentistry in one place. Our positive, welcoming environment helps women and their families build healthier futures through our holistic approach to care.

We provide gender-focused, trauma-informed, culturally safe care. In addition to health services, we are able to connect patients to community-based supports like those offered by our sister society, EFry, which include shelters & housing, substance use recovery, life skills, and child & youth programs.

If you are interested in joining an integrated care team, where you will be supported in operating at the top of your license while helping vulnerable women and children enjoy healthier lives and futures, we invite your application.
